New ORLEANS, September 20 .- The Times-Democrat's Jacksonville special dated September 19 says: The case of Mr. Hugo Granthal occupies the interest of the hour. Mr. Granthal, after a week's illness, died last night at 8:30 o'clock, His disease was pronounced by his attending physician, Dr. Bottes, be congestion of the lungs. The Board of Health considering the curcumstances suspicious decided to hold an autopsy on the remains, and should cllow-fever be discovered to arrest the exician for disobedience of the orders the board. This is the second time ing the present epidemic that Dr. Bottes and the Board of Health have come into collision on the subject of ellow-fever. The different boards have done an immense amount of busi-ness this morning. That of Public ness this morning. That of Public Works on hearing that the Sanitary Association contemplated putting a large number of laborers at work on the streets recommended the employment for such purposes of the crowds of idle and needy men who are fed at the public expense. The Board of Health tated plainly that unacclimated nurses and physicians were not desired nor would they be employed. Better arrangements are made for the eding of the nurses on duty and three new commissaries have been established for supplying the indigent sick with pattresses, blankets, and other supplies. He exhibited to the association cultivations of the germs of Dr. Dominges Freire, of Brazil; Dr. Carlos Tinlay, of Hayana and had already been in Havana for several months, when in May last Dr. Sternberg arrived in that city in compliance with instructions from the president to continue the investigation

Through the courtesy of Spanish army surgeous at the military hospitals in Havans Dr. Sternberg was able to obtain as many autopsies as he required and made a careful search of the blood and various organs of the body with reference to the presence of germs. He did not encounter in a single case, he said, the microbe which Freire has described and with which he professes to practice protective inoculations. He has, how-ever, encountered this micrococcus in cultures made from the surface of the body, and believes its presence in Dr. to have been quite accidental and without special significance. Having proved by his microscopical researches and culture experiments that there is no specific germ in the blood of the yellow-fever patients, Sternberg turned his attention to the elementary canal, thinking it not improbable that the specific germ of disease might be located there as is the case in cholera. As was to have been expected be encountered a variety of micro organisms in this situation, some of which were apparently undescribed species, and therefore possible yellow-fever germs. Among these is the bacil-lus of Dr. Paul Gibier, which was found in three out of ten cases. Dr. Stern-berg is of the opinion that Dr. Gibier has not as yet given any satisfac-tory proof that this is a veri-table yellow-fever germ, and forther researches are required in order to determine the important questions relating to the cause and prevention of this disease. Dr. Steruberg has himself discovered several new micro-organisms, and it is possible that one or the other of these is the deadly microbe which he he was not at present in a position to make a definite claim with reference to any of them. Some of these germs were exhibited to the association, and Dr. Sternberg stated that since his return from Havana he had been continuously engaged in the study of these various capy his time for some months to come.

Washington, September 20.—Secretary Fairchild has informed the merchants of Savannah that inasmuch as the ordinary jute bagging manufactured in this country exported as covering for cotton in bale and returned as second hand bagging, would probably fail, when so returned, to be in the same or even substantially the same condition as when exported, such bagging could not be exempt from duty under the only provision in the free list (T. The Secretary adds, however, that any waste bagging to be used in the making of and fit only to be converted into paper and unfit for any other manufacture is free under the provision (T.
